

7 DAYS & 7 NIGHTS

There was a plane, from sun to ice,
flying up the clouds of my life.
Who knows the way? Weather is fine.
Summer of champions and wine.
Hello we are here, hope it's ok,
if I don't know what to say.
I'm just a bear, in a beehive.
Please keep me staying alive.

Laughing and walking,
between graves and stockings,
all right,
so beautiful sight!

Seven days and seven nights,
all the time I need to feel all right,
and to see this mooning shine.
Lying on a bed of shimmering leaves,
watching a falling tree.
Chasing ferries landing in the sea.
Seven nights and seven days,
all the time I need to find my way,
while I hear you singing carols.
Stealing a beer from fighting drunks,
smoking the soothing air.
Holding you by the hand and feel you care.

There was a plane, from ice to sun,
full of experience, and fun.
On my way back, can't understand,
where is my hearth and my land.
All that I know from house of trolls,
is what I keep in my soul.
I can't explain, but is still here,
between a kiss and a beer.

Laughing and walking,
between graves and stockings,
all right,
so beautiful sight!

Seven days and seven nights,
all the time I need to feel all right,
and to see this mooning shine.
Lying on a bed of shimmering leaves,
watching a falling tree.
Chasing ferries landing in the sea.
Seven nights and seven days,
all the time I need to find my way,
while I hear you singing carols.

Stealing a beer from fighting drunks,
smoking the soothing air.
Holding you by the hand and feel you care.

I thought I was the one for you,
and so I've been your knight!
For seven days,
and seven nights.